
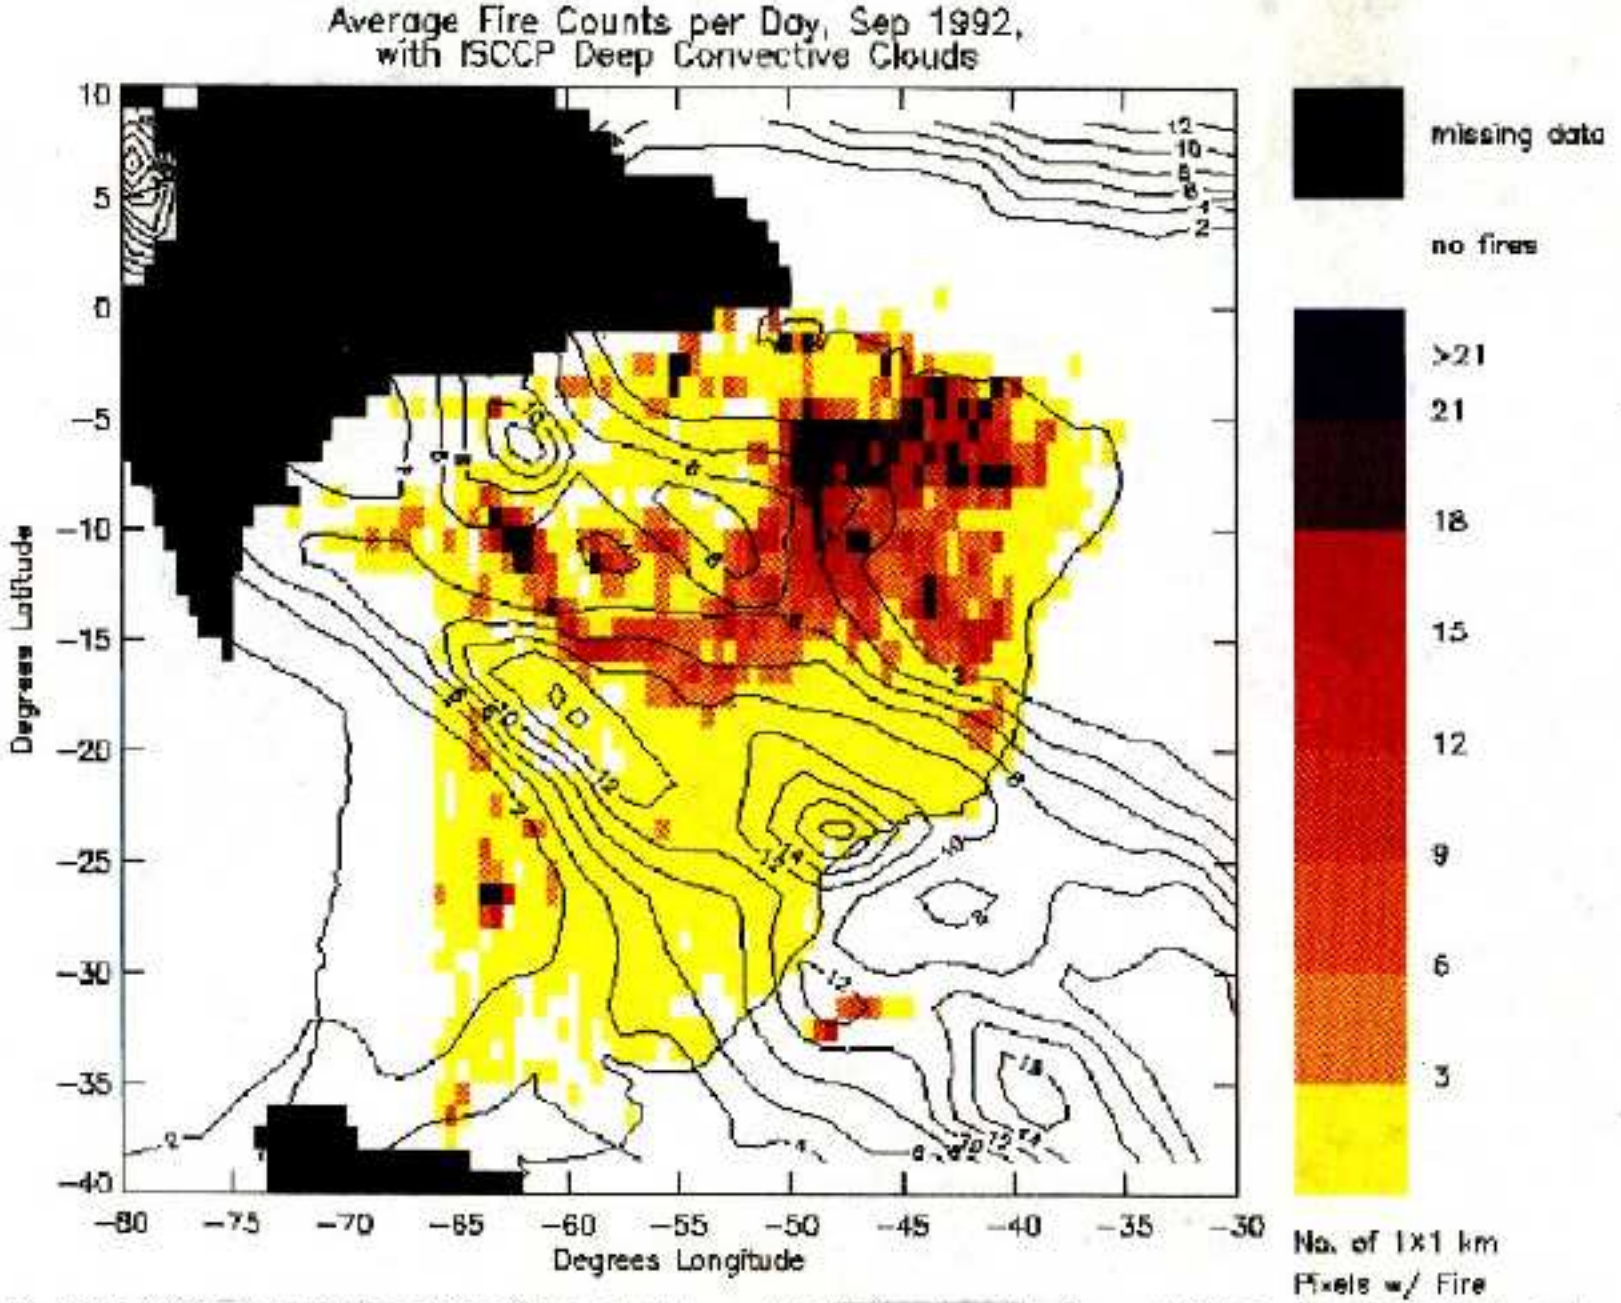

Fig. 10 - Sept. 1992, mean number of fires/day in Brazil from AVHRR (courtesy of A. Setzer, INPE, Brazil) with ISCCP-derived frequency of deep convection. Low-level winds are from east and/or northeast, which promotes transport from regions of biomass burning toward active convection.